

Special Issue Editors Biography

Global South Review

Dr. Ahmad Rizky M. Umar is a Marie Skłodowska-Curie Action (MSCA) Postdoctoral Fellow at Aberystwyth University, UK. He completed PhD in Political Science and International Studies at the University of Queensland, Australia (2022), and previously taught at the University of Queensland and Griffith University in Brisbane. He was the Executive Secretary and Researcher at ASEAN Studies Center, Universitas Gadjah Mada (2014-2017). His teaching and research expertise are on Indonesia's Foreign Policy, Asian Regionalism, Global Historical Sociology, and International Relations Theory.

Dr. Suci Lestari Yuana is a lecturer at the Department of International Relations, Universitas Gadjah Mada, Indonesia. She obtained her PhD from the Copernicus Institute of Sustainable Development, Utrecht University. Her research focuses on digital platforms, governance innovation, sustainability transitions, and the socio-political dimensions of technological change, particularly in the Global South. As the founder of the STAIR (Sciences, Technology, and Arts in International Relations) Community Indonesia and Managing Editor of the Global South Review Journal, she champions interdisciplinary approaches to International Relations. She has contributed significantly to understanding circular economy practices, AI colonialism, and feminist participatory research. Her publications span peer-reviewed journal articles, edited volumes, and policy briefs.

Dr. Luqman-nul Hakim is a director at the Institute of International Studies (IIS) and a lecturer at the Department of International Relations, Universitas Gadjah Mada, Indonesia. He obtained his PhD in Asian Studies from the Asia Institute, the University of Melbourne. His research focuses on conflict studies, development-security-democracy nexus. His latest book "Islamism and the Quest for Hegemony in Indonesia" was published by Palgrave Macmillan in March 2023.

Professor Mohtar Mas'ood is an Emeritus Professor in International Relations at Universitas Gadjah Mada, Indonesia. He obtained his PhD in Political Science from Ohio State University (1983), and previously has been a guest lecturer at the Graduate Studies in International Affairs, Hankuk University of Foreign Studies, Seoul, South Korea (1999-2000); The Division of International Studies, International Christian University, Mitaka, Tokyo, Japan (2002-2003); International Studies, Washington College, Chestertown, MD, United States; and International Studies, Malmö University, Malmö, Sweden (2015). His research focuses on International Political Economy, Political Economy of Development, Gender and Politics as well as Area Studies, especially issues concerning the Global South. He has published several books including: (1) The Economy and Political Structure of Indonesia's New Order: 1966-1971, (2) Bureaucracy, Politics and Development, and (3) International Political Economy and Development.