

Authors Biography

Global South Review

Vol. 1, No.2, December 2019

B. Endo Gauh Perdana is a graduate student in International Relations at Universitas Gadjah Mada. His research interests include political economy issues in the fields of trade, regional economy, and international development cooperation. He is currently writing a thesis on global value chain of palm oil in Indonesia while working on a research on corporate environmental citizenship. He can be reached through his email endo.g.p@mail.ugm.ac.id

Ario Bimo Utomo is a junior lecturer at the Department of International Relations, Universitas Pembangunan Nasional “Veteran” Jawa Timur. Currently, he is also a PhD candidate in Social Science at Universitas Airlangga. His research interests include, but not limited to, parallel diplomacy and the globalisation of cities. His latest publications include The Paradiplomatic Role of the ConIFA in Promoting Self-Determination of Marginalised Entities (2019) and Coordination Problems and Aid-Dependency as Challenges of State-Building in the Fragile States (2019). He can be reached through his email ariobimo.utomo@gmail.com

Willem Leonardus Turpijn is a researcher at YOUCAT Indonesia. His research interests include youth development, The Catholic Church, the social discipline of the church and the Catholic Church in the global arena. His latest publication include Religious Research on the Catholic Youth and The Quest of Young People: Synergy Opportunities between YOUCAT and Higher Education Institutions to Increase Students’ Spirituality. He can be reached through his email willem.turpijn@gmail.com

William Cahyawan is a researcher at the Division for Applied Social Psychology Research. His areas of interest and research are in the field of development studies, tolerance, poverty, and peace studies. His latest publication include Religious Research on the Catholic Youth, Institutional approach in Microfinancing and its role towards Poverty Reduction, and Social support towards pre-properous women through microfinancing: A Case Study on Mitra Dhuafa Union Cikalongkun branch.

Yohanes Benny Suwito is a lecturer at the Faculty of Philosophy, Universitas Katolik Widya Mandala Surabaya. His research interests include the study of marriage and family ethics, christian ethics and business ethics. He is currently doing a research on the Roman Catholic Church.

Mohammad Mohiuddin is an assistant professor at the Department of Sociology, University of Chittagong, Bangladesh. This university is the second-largest public (government) university in Bangladesh. He has been serving in this university since 2013. As a faculty, besides dealing with classes, he needs to supervise monographs and theses of graduate and post-graduate students. In his academic endeavor, he has published more than ten articles and book chapters in national and international journals and edited volumes. He and also attended in many national and international conferences, seminars, and workshops held in different countries including Bangladesh, India, Thailand, and Indonesia. The major research areas of Mohiuddin are ethnicity, minority, gender, development, refugee, migration, and environment (EMGDRME). The author has recently published at least two international publications as a research article and book chapter. The article has been published from Mae Fah Luang University, Thailand titled 'Gender Role, Working Women and Family: A Sociological study on some selected professionals in Chittagong city, Bangladesh', in 2018 December. Likewise, the book chapter was published in India titled 'The Culture of Escapism in Contemporary Bangladesh: A Semiotic Analysis of 'Subodh' Series Graffiti', in 2019 March. The current project that he is conducting is the 'The experience of Rohingya women in Myanmar Prior Influx to Bangladesh'. He can be reached through his email mohiuddin.socio@cu.ac.bd

---

Aditya Pratama is currently a bachelor's graduate from Parahyangan Catholic University's International Relations Department. Adit centres his research around international political economics. He is active in forums related to international studies during the pursuit of his IR degree and has published an article in Parahyangan University's KSMPMI Journal focusing on hedging practices in the Asia Pacific.

Naifa Rizani is currently a Master of Science candidate for International Relations study from S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies (RSIS). Indonesia's foreign policy, international security, and geopolitics are some of her research interests. Several articles of her were published in Jurnal Sentris by Kelompok Studi Mahasiswa Pengkaji Masalah Internasional, Universitas Katolik Parahyangan. She also has published an article in THC Insights apart from writing opinions in Kontekstual as a contributor. She can be reached through her email naifa.rizani@gmail.com

Togu Alexander is currently a Master of Business Administration student majoring Financial Study at Bandung Institute of Technology. His research interest encompasses international political economy and business. Togu has actively participated in international forums related to International Relations and Business. Prior to that, he published two academic writings on Jurnal Sentris by Kelompok Studi Mahasiswa Pengkaji Masalah Internasional, Universitas Katolik Parahyangan.