

Authors Biography

Global South Review

Vol. 4, No.2, July 2022

Alfin Febrian Basundoro is a Bachelor of Arts of International Relations from Universitas Gadjah Mada, Yogyakarta, Indonesia. During his study, he was involved in several research organizations and initiatives, including Unit Penalaran Ilmiah Interdisipliner Universitas Gadjah Mada as a Vice Head of Research Division (2020-2021), Foreign Policy Community of Indonesia (FPCI) Universitas Gadjah Mada as Chief Research Editor (2021), and Citrakara Mandala Universitas Gadjah Mada as an external contributor (2020-2021). After his graduation, he interned and worked in various institutions, including Badan Riset dan Inovasi Nasional (BRIN), Lembaga Ketahanan Nasional (both in 2022), and in Indonesia-China High-level Dialogue and Cooperation Mechanism (HDCM) Secretariat under the Coordinating Ministry of Maritime Affairs and Investments as an Expert Staff between 2022 and 2023. He is keenly interested in geopolitics, middle power strategy, foreign policy analysis, and defense policy studies, including defense modernization. From July 2023, he will pursue his Master of Strategic Studies at the Australian National University (ANU). He has published articles in Modern Diplomacy, Eurasia Review, and several Indonesian media outlets. He could be reached via email at alfinfb@gmail.com or alfinfebrian@mail.ugm.ac.id.

Trystanto is an undergraduate International Relations student at Universitas Gadjah Mada, Yogyakarta, Indonesia, and an exchange student at the Institut d'Études Politiques de Paris (Sciences Po) in Reims, France, in 2023. He was also the Head of the Research and Development Division at the Foreign Policy Community of Indonesia Chapter Universitas Gadjah Mada (FPCI UGM) in 2022. He is interested in great power politics, US Foreign Policy, Chinese Foreign Policy, and France-Asia relations. His works have been published in the Yale Review of International Studies, Tamkang Journal of International Affairs (Q3), Padjadjaran Journal of International Law, Journal of World Trade Studies, Modern Diplomacy, and numerous Indonesian media. In addition to his native Indonesian, he speaks fluent English and French. He could be reached via email at trystanto@mail.ugm.ac.id or trystantos@gmail.com. The arguments in this journal are his own and do not necessarily represent Universitas Gadjah Mada, Sciences Po, or FPCI UGM.

Muhammad Irsyad Abrar is a graduate student at the Department of International Relations, Universitas Gadjah Mada (UGM), Yogyakarta, Indonesia. For his graduate thesis, he plans to research South Korean reluctance to integrate its ballistic missile defense with the United States of America. He earned his bachelor's degree from the Department of International Relations UGM in 2020. His undergraduate thesis examined the retraction of the Indonesian decision to name the exclusive economic zone northeast of Natuna Island as the North Natuna Sea. He was an assistant to several lecturers in the Department of International Relations UGM from 2019 to 2022. Also, he was an administrative staff at the Ministry of Manpower of the Republic of Indonesia in 2022, which involved examining the ministry work plan and budget and preparing materials for the minister and the secretary general. He has several publications with topics on Indonesian foreign policy, the Indonesian palm oil sector, the Russian state-owned multinational company, and the global social movement. Contact with him can be done via email at muhammad.irsyad.abrar@mail.ugm.ac.id.

Kevin Abimanyu Jatmiko is an International Cooperation Coordinator at the International Undergraduate Program in International Relations (IUP in IR), Faculty of Social and Political Sciences, Universitas Gadjah Mada. He completed his undergraduate study in the Department of International Relations Universitas Gadjah Mada in 2018. His undergraduate thesis discussed the sister city relations between Hokkaido and Sakhalin under the territorial dispute between Japan and Russia over Kuril Islands. He continued his study by taking Master of Art in International Relations at Ritsumeikan University, Japan, by which he finished his program in 2022. During his post-graduate study, he researched food security issue by analyzing the potential of sorghum as an alternative crop for food security under changing climate which he conducted it in East Flores, Indonesia. His research interests are Development Studies, Community Development, Asian Studies, and Genocide Studies. Kevin can be contacted via email: jatmiko.kevin@gmail.com

Putri Febrianty Ardhana was born in Samarinda on February 25, 2002. Started education at 026 Loa Janan Public Elementary School, Samarinda 10 State Junior High School, Samarinda 8 State Senior High School majoring in Social Sciences, and continued her education at the Undergraduate level at Mulawarman University, Faculty of Social and Political Sciences, International Relations Major. While in college the author was involved in several activities such as becoming a member of the Campus Da'wah Institute for the 2019-2021 period, participating in the Indonesian Student Micro-Credentials (KMMI) program with the Majoring in Digital Marketing in 2021, attending cross-interest classes in the Human Resource Management course in the Psychology study program in 2022, participated in the Independent Campus Certified Independent Study and Internship activities at PT Kaltim Methanol Industry as a Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) and Public Relations Staff in 2022, and carried out the 48th Batch Real Work Lecture (Kuliah Kerja Nyata) in Sesulu Village, Waru District, District Penajam Paser Utara in June-August 2022.

Rahmah Daniah born in Samarinda on July 27, 1980, completed her bachelor's degree in International Relations at Jenderal Achmad Yani University, Bandung in 2003, then continued her master's degree in International Relations at Gajah Mada University, Yogyakarta in 2006. Academic career as a lecturer in International Relations at Mulawarman University since 2004 until now, teaching at several universities such as IKIP PGRI Samarinda, and Nahlatul Ulama University Samarinda. From 2020 to 2023 he will be the coordinator of the International Relations study program, Faculty of Social and Political Sciences, Mulawarman University. Enjoys conducting research studies on international political economy, resulting in several research journals, such as Interest and Institutional Analysis in Bitcoin Rejection by Bank Indonesia, American Journal of Economics, p-ISSN : 2166-4951, e-ISSN : 2166-496x, j. economics. 20180802.06. in 2018, Indonesia- Malaysia Political Economy Asymmetric Relations, ISSN:1410-6604, Vol.17, No.1, July 2010 Edition, UNCAC (United Nation Convention Against Corruption) as a Political Instrument in Indonesia's Anti-Corruption Policy, ISSN:1411- 5352, Vol. X, January 2009 Edition, Rational Choice of Indonesian Rice Import Policy in the Framework of 1995-2000 WTO Cooperation Written in Social-Political Journal, ISSN: 1410-6604, Vol.15, No.1, July 2008 Edition, and Analysis of Agricultural Public Policy AS In Implementation of Public Law 107-171 Post-Agreement on Agriculture, written in the Journal of Public Spirit, ISSN: 1907-0489, Vol.4, No.2, October 2008 Edition.

Tusta Citta Ihtisan Tri Prasidya is a Lecturer at Accounting Department, Faculty of Economic and Business, Mataram University. Prasidya completed his undergraduate studies at Malang Muhammadiyah University, majoring Accounting. During his study, he developed a keen interest in Taxation which led to his decision in taking Master Degree at Airlangga University, specializing in Tax Accounting. Following his graduation, Prasidya embarked on a career in hospitality startup where he honed his skill and knowledge in taxation and accounting. He was providing strategic guidance for improving the efficiency in recording financial record of the organization. He also helps the organization to navigate the complex challenge presented by the Covid-19 that hit hard the hospitality industry in 2021 – 2022. Driven by passion in education and knowledge-sharing, Prasidya started venturing into teaching. He started his teaching career as a freelance lecturer in Mataram University before finally becoming a full-time lecturer in the Accounting Department, Mataram University. He involves in various project related to regional taxation, accounting system for MSMEs, and auditing.

Wahyu Candra Dewi is a Graduate Student at International Relations, Faculty of Social and Political Science, Gadjah Mada University. Candra's educational journey began with a bachelor's degree in Political Science from Sebelas Maret University, where she developed a deep appreciation in how political economic works. After completing her degree, she embarked a professional journey that allow her to apply her knowledge in practical level. She garnered invaluable experience as a Project Assistant in Pyxera Global; NGO that working in the field of CSR. She got the chance to interact and work with expert from IBM before continuing her career in customer experience field. Dewi enjoyed her time providing strategic plan to improve the communication process with the customer from all over the globe where she found out how broad is the field of International Relations. This journey led her to decision of taking Master Degree in International Relations where she currently interested in human security, digital transformation, and political economy.