Submission of Articles to Jurnal Pengabdian kepada Masyarakat (Indonesian Journal of Community Engagement)

I intend to submit an article entitled, "Strengthening Community Potential In Responding To The Covid-19 Pandemic Through The Ecsotic Program (Education Information Technology-Based Online System)" to be published in the Jurnal Pengabdian kepada Masyarakat.

For this reason, I declare that the article sent for publication is original work, has never been published in other journals. All authors have read and approved the manuscript and take full responsibility for its content.

In the article, I discuss the results of community services on optimizing the role of society through technology-based education. The results of this study are important because handling problems with a cultural approach (technology) can maximize the role of society in minimizing stigma, surviving the changes in the new normal era and preventing the spread of covid-19. This article can attract readers in the field of community empowerment strategies by community nurses.

Best Regards,
